

Hope for her

As this girl that is lost in the midst of her beautiful mind, she finds that she is overwhelmed by the extensive intricacy of the objects floating without gravity. Sounds and unknown murmurs appear and disappear into this mystical void of wonders. Perhaps she will step on a thorn or maybe she will smell the sweat aroma of the frantically spastic and complex ideas. Either or she will find the only answer to this journey is to continue living in search for the rest of extraordinary colors in the abyss of her mind.

Theoretical