

Picture book

Like whirl wind of supercharged energy, the something emerged from the nothingness in a place that was forever empty. No cause at all to why this extra ordinary phenomenon happened to this dark and infinite space. A purpose not yet known and the speed of unlikely time this awesome explosion ripped into a world that always existed. The something that will embark on the wondrous journey into a place that only exists to the soul that perceives it. All perception has been consumed by this interchangeable void of everything that does not exist in reality.
